INTRODUCTION

The Henegar Family Papers (1845-1924) are centered around the Henegar family of Maury, Polk, Knox and several other counties of Tennessee. The Henegar Family Papers are a gift of Jill Garrett, Columbia, Tennessee.

The materials in this finding aid measure .42 cubic feet. There are no restrictions on the materials. Single photocopies of unpublished writings in the Henegar Family Papers may be made for purposes of scholarly research.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

The Henegar Family Papers, containing approximately two hundred-fifty items, span the period 1845-1924, although the bulk of the material is concentrated in the years 1850-1900. The collection is composed of accounts, clippings, correspondence, land records, legal documents, and several miscellaneous items.

The majority of the collection is composed of correspondence. This correspondence is mainly family in nature, but give excellent information concerning family trips, and one letter gives an eyewitness account of the President William McKinley assassination. The correspondence from noted early botanist Augustin Gattinger, is exceptionally important. A sketch of his life may be found in the clippings.

The Henegar family was active in several mercantile and related businesses in the Middle Tennessee area. Their work is reflected in the accounts and receipts, contracts and articles of agreement found in the collection.

This small collection is important for two reasons. First, it provides valuable information for the genealogist who may be seeking family history. Second, it provides the social historian with a view of a prominent family before and after the Civil War.
